

Much or Many?

Use the word MANY when talking about things that can be counted.
Use MUCH when talking about things that cannot be counted.

Examples:

How many books do you need from Flourish and Blotts?

How much food does Hedwig usually eat?

Circle the right word in each sentence below!

1. There was so many/much food at the feast that Harry and Ron couldn't eat it all.
2. Hermione read as many/much books as she could before she left the library.
3. Hedwig has delivered so many/much letters for Harry!
4. Honeydukes is full of so many/much candy and magical sweets.
5. How many/much does a chocolate frog cost?
6. Professor Snape assigned too many/much homework.
7. Seamus has set so many/much things on fire by accident.
8. After drinking too many/much butterbeer, Ron felt a little sick.
9. Professor Flitwick knows so many/much spells!
10. Many/much wizards buy their wands from Ollivanders.
11. Hagrid's love for dangerous creatures gets him into so many/much trouble.
12. Students don't know many/much spells before their first year at Hogwarts.

Please use this as an opportunity to use a pencil and paper, practice your handwriting then check each spelling, capital letter and all punctuation.

Miss Shopland