Dear Parent/ Carer,

Year 2 Update

Following my letter last week updating you with arrangements for our Year 2 provision last week, you won't have failed to notice that the week did not quite proceed as we had planned.

Unfortunately both Mr Watson and Mrs Toye were both unwell during the latter part of this week, and this has seen us turning to Miss Shopland and Mrs Russell among other established members of the teaching team who the children know well. Miss Butler has been overseeing arrangements and the children's provision ensuring that the children's learning experiences are appropriate and that expectations are maintained. Among other things this has seen many children's reading books reviewed this week and all will be sent home today for the weekend, with further reviews planned for next week. Next week you will also notice additional spelling lists being sent home to support learning. We would ask that reading and contact books are brought back to school on Monday where they will stay for the week,

Looking forward to next week, we are pleased to share that Mr Watson is well and plans see him being with the children every day as we lead into half term. He will also be leading the class following the half term break until Mrs Brown's return.

Thank-you for your ongoing support -be assured that your children's learning and well-being remains our priority.

Yours sincerely,

Scott Hampton
Head Teacher
